Defendant Husband Denies Most of the Allegations and Asks That the Complaint Be Dismissed.

Attorney G. P. Bullard has filed in the district court for his client Wil-llam O. Moore, an answer and crossbill in the divorce proceedings instituted by Minnie Moore. The answer is a quite general denial of the allegations mentioned in the complaint, which were numerous, an admission of the facts of their marriage, and designed to establish the general charge of crucity, which took place January 12, 1907, in this county, the existence of their child and such other incidents as neither party would naturally excen to. The prayer is that the complaint be dismissed and judgment for costs be given the defendant.

In denying the allegations of the complaint the defendant says that the plaintiff has not during the period of their married life been a good, kind, nationt and affectionate wife, discharging her duties as such. He deany personal violence or any intention of the Elks, of driving her away from him. He denies that she has endured Ill treatnecessitated her leaving him.
